TO THE WEST! TO THE WEST!

Before making your arrangements to follow the advice of the "thousands who have already gone," it would be well to consider what has been done to make the journey to your "Homes in the West" as pleasant and free from danger as human skill and foresight can accomplish.

By consolidation and construction, a road has been put into operation on the shortest possible line from Nashville, Tenn., to St. Louis, "the future great City of the world." This line, the has, during the past year, earned an enviable reputation by its smooth track, prompt time, sure connections, and the magnificence of its passenger equipment. Its trains are made up of new and commodious day cars, provided with the celebrated Miller coupler and platform, and the Westinghouse air-brake.

It is positively the only line running Pullman Palace Drawing-Room Sleeping Cars through without change from Nashville to St. Louis. No other line pretends to offer such advantages, either in distance, time, or equipment. Why, then, journey by circuitous routes? Do not be induced to purchase tickets to St. Louis or the West by any other line, remember that is the shortest, cheapest, quickest, best and only line under one management from Nashville to St. Louis, and is from 60 to 200 miles the shortest to St. Louis, Kansas City, Omaha, Denver, California, Texas, and all western points. It is also the "Chicago Shortest Line," via Evansville.

You can secure the cheapest rates for yourselves and your movables on application, in person or by letter, to CHARLES MCCABE, Southern Passenger Agent, near College street Depot, Nashville, Tenn., or to the undersigned.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

Monday, October 27th, 1873.

A PROCLAMATION,
By the President of the United States of America.

The approaching close of another year brings with it the occasion for renewed thanksgiving and acknowledgment to the Almighty Ruler of the Universe for the unnumbered mercies which He has bestowed upon us.

Abundant harvests have been among the rewards of industry. With local exceptions health has been among the many blessings enjoyed. Tranquility at home and peace with other nations have prevailed. Frugal industry is regaining its merited recognition and its merited rewards.

Gradually, but, under the providence of God, surely, as we trust, the nation is recovering from the lingering results of a dreadful civil strife.

For these and all the other mercies vouchsafed, it becomes us as a people to return heartfelt and grateful acknowledgments, and with our thanksgiving for blessings we may unite prayers for the cessation of local and temporary sufferings.

I, therefore, recommend that on Thursday, the twenty-seventh day of November next, the people meet in their respective places of worship, to make their acknowledgments to Almighty God for His bounties and His protection, and to offer to Him prayers for their continuance.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington this 14th day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-three, and [L.S.] of the independence of the United States the ninety-seventh.

U. S. GRANT.

By the President:
HAMILTON FISH,
Secretary of State.

A LARGE audience gathered to hear Ex-President Johnson in Washington on Wednesday night, in expectation that he would say something about the trial of Mrs. Surratt. In this his hearers were disappointed, and before he finished, most of them had left. The speech was mainly about the Constitution, specie payments, and Carsarism. We do not desire to be disrespectful to the Ex-President, but from a reading of his speech, it is probable that had we been of the two thousand who were present when he began to speak, we would not have of the two hundred who heard him finish.

THE election in Iowa has developed some singular facts. The result was decided more by local than by political considerations; in fact, the Democracy having for years been almost entirely inactive, save in a few counties in that State. A correspondent of the Chicago Inter-Ocean gives a curious account of how the thing was done in Iowa, as follows:

"Every Iowa county seat has had its coterie of politicians, manipulators of the official wires, and setters-up and pullers-down of candidates. It is probable that at least nine counties out of every ten were under the control of such a management, and the special purpose of the Iowa election this year was to break up these combinations. In the Grundy county district there was a railway ring; in Warren county it was a fight between the county seat and the country; in Guthrie it was a county-seat question; in Wapello, a pitched battle between the grangers and anti-grangers. This list might be extended almost indefinitely, but enough has been stated to show that the contest was mainly on local issues and against local rings. There was nothing like consistency in the voting. Senator West, of Henry county, has been the leader of the grangers in the Legislature ever since the grangers were established, nor has he ever done anything to forfeit their regard or confidence. A strong man in the Senate, an active Patron, and a man of stanch integrity, he was defeated by grange votes. In another county, where a railway was being built, the grange voted almost unanimously with the railway party, endeavoring to defeat one of their own number. In these incongruities, unpleasant as they may appear, lies the future hope of the Patrons, for they show that there is no reasonable hope of making the organization a political party."

The Raleigh News says it is not generally known, but nevertehless a fact, that the late William Eaton, Sr., of Warren county, was the largest tobacco grower in the world. The large farm that produced this great quantity of tobacco is now devoted exclusively to the production of cotton.

Silk Manufacture.

Nothing exemplifies the progressive character of American industry more than does the production of home-made silk. The manufacture of silk cannot be truly said to have actually begun in the United States until about thirteen years ago. It now gives employment to more hands than are engaged in France in the same trade, and its progress here is far beyond that of England or any other European country. American silk is rapidly taking the place of the imported article, as is shown by a comparison of figures taken from official sources. The value of silk entered this year is $8,250,790, less than for the corresponding months of last year, and $7,882,568 less than was entered in the same period during 1871. With this decrease of importations the looms of the country are hard at work, and the demands of consumers are met, at no increase of cost. The aggregate value of the silk manufactured in this country during 1872 was more than twenty-five millions of dollars. With this exhibit of the results of this textile industry for its twelvth year of life, who can estimate its future growth and greatness?

IT is rather odd that the editor of the New York Tribune should permit a subordinate to go to jail for refusing to disclose the author of a libel. Certainly the ethics of journalism does not demand this. No rule can be fairer than that the editor who has the credit, should also bear the blame of everything which appropriately belongs to his department.

It has been truly said that the liberty of the press ends when vituperation begins. And when an editor is brought before a court of law to answer for one of the numerous libels which appear weekly in the American press, his brethren should not be too eager in denouncing it as an invasion of the rights of journalists.

As for Dana of the Sun, it is not likely that many editors will greatly care, should he be properly brought to the bar of justice to answer for some of the offences of which he has been guilty.

The American Woman Suffrage Association held a very successful aniversary and annual meeting in New York and Brooklyn, Oct. 13 and 14. The Convention was large. The proceedings were spirited and harmonious.—Great enthusiasm prevailed. Col. T. Wentworth Higginson presided and made the opening address. Letters endorsing the movement, were read from Hon. George Wm. Curtis, Wm. Lloyd Garrison, Lydia Maria Child, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Louisa M. Alcott and others. Eighty-six delegates were present, representing organized societies in fourteen States and Territories. The annual report shows that Woman Suffrage is established and works well in Wyoming and Utah, that it was under discussion last winter, in 21 State Legislatures, and received a majority vote in those of Maine, Iowa and Michigan. Written reports were read from 17 States. Julia Ward Howe was elected President for the ensuing year; Lucy Stone, Chairman Executive committee. Among the Vice President at large are Vice President Henry Wilson, Hon. George Wm. Curtis, Senator Sargeant, Wm. Lloyd Garrison and Col. Higginson. The resolutions adopted are as follows;

RESOLUTIONS.

Resolved, That the primary aim of the American Woman Suffrage Association is to secure the ballot for woman; while it includes, in its general aim, the establishment of her equality of rights in all directions.

Resolved, That one-half of the adult population of the United States who are legally entitled to hold property, who are assessed for taxes and punishable for crime, and whose interest in the Commonwealth is in no respect less than that of the other half, should not be deprived of an equal voice in the government.

Resolved, That a government of the people must be a government composed equally of men and women, inasmuch as the equal co-operation of the sexes is essential alike to a happy home, a refined society, a christian church and a Republican State.

Resolved, That our present political is not fairly representative, even of men, being largely controlled in the primary meetings by rings of trading politicians intent on private gain; that political reform must enlist a more general interest on the part of the people in the management of public business; and that this would be greatly promoted by combining the social sympathy and co-operation of women in the primary meetings, at the polls, and in the halls of legislation.

Resolved, That we advise the friends of Woman Suffrage in every locality to promote the Movement morally and politically, by organizing local societies, for circulating tracts and newspapers, for holding public meetings, and especially for helping to elect the friends of Suffrage and to defeat its enemies.

Resolved, That the Woman Suffrage Movement, like every other reform of the Age, laments the loss and honors the memory of its most powerful advocate, John Stuart Mill.

— A meeting of cotton factors and shippers was held in New Orleans on Friday evening. to consider the recommendations made by the conference of factors and bankers. A resolution was passed to sell cotton for currency only after November 10th next. All sales are now made for certified checks.

— All the morning papers of Baltimore publish an extract from a letter of Rev. Wm. E. Munsey, the eloquent and distinguished Methodist divine, dated Jonesboro,' Tenn., to a prominent gentleman in this city, in which he brands as malignant falsehoods the late injurious reports relative to his alleged intoxicated habits, which recently had wide circulation in the press.

— Fourteen years ago Louis Waldenberger was arrested in Egg Harbor City, N. J., charged with the murder of his child. He was tried, convicted, and sentenced to be hung. The sympathy of his neighbors was aroused in his behalf. They did not believe him guilty, and thought the verdict unjust. This feeling was so strong that a powerful influence was brought to bear in his behalf on the Court of Pardons, and with such effect that his sentence was committed to imprisonment for life. During these fourteen years that he has been incarcerated his wife has died, and a number of his friends who tried during their lives to secure his freedom. From certain statements made by his wife on her deathbed it is now thought that she was the guilty one. The citizens of Egg Harbor are now taking measures to secure his release. Ten of the jurymen who convicted him have signed the petition for pardon. A majority of the citizens of the town have signed the petition, and hopes are entertained that the Court of Pardons will grant the pardon at its next session.

WE call attention to the communication in regard to the accident of Capt. Geo. Morrison. We learn from parties here, that a telegram was received Saturday night to the effect that he was as comfortable as could be expected, and would be brought home this afternoon. We trust that his injuries are not as severe as they are supposed to be

MR. JAMES C. MUNDS keeps on hand at his drug store on Third street, a full line of drugs, medicines, cologne, soaps and everything usually kept in a drug store. Mr. Munds recently bought out Messrs. CAPT. CHAS. D. ELLIS and lady, former and much respected citizens of this place, are paying a short visit to their friends in this city. Capt. Ellis, we are pleased to say, is and has been for the past ten years, a successful farmer of chowan county, is enjoying good health, and shows but few of the signs of old age that is generally perceptable in persons of his age.

WE are pleased to see that our citizens are responding to the call made in behalf of the Memphis sufferers, so promptly and generously. Dr. A. J. DeRosset furnishes us with the following names raised by himself on Saturday and forwarded to the Howard Association of Memphis:

Clayton Giles $5.
Anonymous $20.
R. S. Radcliffe $1.
Louis Payne (colored) $1.

We are pleased to note the donation of $1 by one of our colored citizens, and hope that others will follow his good example.

THE TOWN CRIER.

— Coolish.
— Gold is 108¼.
— Slight rain last night.
— Advertise in the POST.
— Grapes still in market.
— Business is still very dull.
— Do not buy witness tickets.
— Grand Jury not near through.
— Churches well filled yesterday.
— There will be services in St. Paul's church to-morrow at 9.60.
— The First Presbyterian Church was handsomely illuminated by the new burners last night.
— Murder, forgery, arson, burglary, robbery and larceny are among the crimes for trial this week.
— Musquitoes promised to go when the frost came, but they didn't. We have had frost and we have musquitoes.
— That new "Universal" press has arrived, and Mr. S. G. Hall is now prepared to turn off work with greater facility.
— Little by little the Schillinger pavement finds friends. We hope to see it soon on many walks now a disgrace to the city.
— Our country cousins along the Charlotte road condemn the circus. Had they reported the scores we have had to do in the years past, they would say it was pretty good—considering.

REV. DR. MILLER, of Charlotte, the retiring Moderator, will preach the opening sermon before the Synod of North Carolina which assembles in the First Presbyterian church on Wednesday evening next. Dr. Miller has the reputation of being one of the most able divines in this State, and we have no doubt that the announcement of the fact that he will preach in this city on Wednesday night will cause the church to be filled to overflowing.

LAST Thursday night, as one of our young men was returning home from a hop he had attended, he was suddenly accosted by a man, who asked several questions, and altogether acted in a very suspicious manner, so much so that our young friend entertained fears for his safety, drew his old blunderbus and told his friend of an enquiring mind, that if he came any closer to him, he would "drop him." The fellow had nothing more to say, and suddenly remembered that he might be wanted somewhere else just then, left without any ceremony whatever.

REV. DR. PLUMMER preached in the First Presbyterian Church yesterday, both forenoon and at night, to large and interested, audiences. This venerable Divine has for many weeks past supplied the vacant pulpit of the above named church, and by his earnestness and zeal done much good and endeared himself greatly to the congregation which he has served. Although so old a man he has traveled over four hundred miles for every Sabbath that he has preached here, he being connected with the Presbyterian Theological Seminary in Columbia, S. C., and having his residence there.

MISSES MAMIE CASSIDEY, Fannie F. L. Empie, Lettie H. Daniels and Lizzie A. H. Meares are soliciting aid for the Memphis sufferers. The little ladies are working zealously and have collected twenty-eight ($28) dollars which will be forwarded to day. It is the intention of the young ladies of having a fair in the Eclectic Hall next Friday night, the proceeds of which are to be devoted to the sufferers. We think that the actions of and the motives which prompted the little girls, the oldest of which is 12 years of age, deserves all the praise that can be bestowed upon them.

CAROLINA CENTRAL RAILWAY OFFICE
OCTOBER 27th—12 M.

To the Post:—

The cause of the recent very serious and probably fatal accident to Captain Morrison, was as follows: The hands employed by the contractor doing the heavy masonry at Pee Dee Bridge went with their hand car (a small "pole car") to get their rations at the store house near the bridge, and had left it but a few minutes, and knowing there was no train due nor expecting any one on a hand car or train, did not for the short time they were to remain remove it from the track. It was after dark and Capt. Morrison coming down the grade at a rapid rate, run into the car and crushed the bones of both legs.—His Physicians report this morning after a full examination, that the only chance to save his life is by the amputation of both legs. This he refuses to have done, and they can only make him comfortable and await the result or work of nature.

Saturday Night Sketches.

The sunset to-night is gorgeous in the extreme. Piled up in the West are huge mountains and baricades of dark clouds, massed as if to prevent the closing of the day, but the glow of golden light is too much for the barrier, formidable as it seems, and it dissolves in blazing colors too magnificent for discription, calling forth involuntary burts of admiration from the spectators of the sublime scene. The placid river bearing upon its bosom the reflection of the bordering foliage with its thousand tints, and the golden glow of sunlight adorning it, and the higher hills and their cold green oaks in curious contrast to the warmth below, form a picture more wonderful and grand than painter's art has yet been able to portray. The clouds that fleck the heavens are now tinged with the blood of the dying sun as he slowly sinks from sight, and naught remains of the heaven born picture, fleeting as sublime, but cold grays and chilly air. The heaven clouds so much admired a few moments since, now merely become star screens, so that not one faint glimmer enlivens the sight of the lonely wanderer who turns his gaze earthward in search of incidents, and slowly, alone in a crowd, with the remembrance of the grand picture in his heart, he wanders over his accustomed ground.

It is related of a youth whose soul was fired with the artist fervor, and who appeared before one of our great masters for instruction, expecting to be placed before the sympathetic canvass, that his heart was broken, because his preceptor placed him before a marble slab and employed him to grind paints. We feel a little so to-night, with the sunset in our mind and strings of sausages and red peppers in our sight. What is there in "snowy" tripe, or "golden" carrots, or "silver" onions to compensate for the loss of the heaven glimpse? But this is the reporters fate. Now reporting a sermon and then writing up a horse race, now describing a sunset and then elbowing amid a dirty crowd of market men and women to find something of public interest amid huge quarters of beef and piles of pork.—Alas, who would be a reporter?

To night, two little pure hearts are happy. To do good is the greatest pleasure of life, and two little girls, the eldest of whom has marked but twelve springs, sorrowing for suffering Memphis, spent their holiday in soliciting aid. All day long sweet Fannie and Mamie walked about the city, appealing to the liberal and collecting funds; and to-night their little hearts rejoice in sending thirty-one dollars and seventy-five cents to the sick and dying. May every dollar reach its destination and assuage some grief, and that it may be the means of saving a life is the gentle prayer of these little hearts, foreshadowing the womanly sympathy without which the world would be a blank indeed.

The Court House windows are closed and the weary officials wend their way homeward. The last witness has secured his certificate of attendance, the last juror is discharged and all rejoice that a week of court is done. The jail is full of unfortunates charged with crime, who watch the closing hours of the week with different emotions. Some hoping for the day of trial to prove their innocence and walk again in the free air of heaven, as men among men, while others, with the craft of crime, are waiting and watching for some loop hole to escape punishment. Some, with hardened hearts or without comprehending the horror of their situation, scarcely note the fleeting hours and accept their fate, whatever it may be, with true savage stoicism, while others, new in crime, spend the hours in tears and lamentations. Sad are the sights within the prison walls, and hundreds walk by them day by day without a thought of the sorrows within or even one pulsation of pity for them!

The city is remarkably quiet to-night. Not half the confusion incident to Saturday night, with but little laughter or playful noise. Every one seems intent upon performing his duties, quietly and as expeditiously as possible. Perhaps the gloom so soon to be felt by Capt. Morrison's many friends, by some mysterious method has communicated itself to the careless throng, or purchance the darkened sky and chilly wind has driven the seedy loafers to their holes and thus the hour is silent; we cannot account for it, though we note it in our mind and dilligently search for matters of interest, but 'tis a "sorry" season. Incidents like currency are scarce, and news, like cotton, don't seem to come to hand with any freedom. But hours fly by as we wander about the streets, and the heavy toll of "low twelve" waving the hour of midnight over the city, finds the Saturday night gone with but little gleaned of interest. May the dying hours of us all pass as peacefully as we enter into the perpetual Sabbath of the great hereafter.
